Coromandel Peninsula & Waikato

RELAXED SEASIDE RESORTS AND THE FARMING HINTERLAND.

The Coromandel Peninsula is a beautiful area of land that separates the Hauraki Gulf from the Bay of Plenty. Thousands of holidaymakers join the many artistic residents every summer and make the most of the sun, sand and surf.

Rolling hills, prolific farmland, native forest and a majestic river are part of the gentle landscape that is the Waikato. The region also features Raglan's excellent west coast surf beach and the famous Waitomo Caves.

Hamilton

New Zealand's largest inland city is situated on the banks of the longest river in the country, the mighty Waikato. Board the grand paddle-boat M.V. Waipa Delta for a picturesque cruise down the river. Hamilton also has a zoo, a fun park Waterworld, a winery and a lake with a wildlife sanctuary. Not to be missed are the Hamilton

Gardens which feature many beautiful enclosures. The National Agricultural Heritage celebrates the importance of farm life to the area with displays including museums, a historic village and fire station, Clydesdale horses and farm animals.

Northland

PARADISE FOUND AT THE TOP OF THE NORTH ISLAND.

The north is a country of grand and beautiful contrast — from the breathtaking beaches and sand dunes of the west to the numerous pockets of enchanting east coast bays and their outer islands, from the dewy mangroves to the dense kauri forests— and you can see them all in one day! Northland also boasts

Kaitaia

Kaitaia is the gateway to the Far North, where you can join chartered excursions to Cape Reinga and Ninety Mile Beach. The name literally means 'an abundance of food'. The area was also abundant in kauri gum when the Europeans came in the late 19th century to dig for their fortune. The Far North Regional Museum documents this a terrific marine life, many important historic sights, and a warm climate to attract visitors all year round.

history with many intriguing Maori and pioneer relics, moa bones and an impressive kauri gum collection on display. Trek up to Reservoir Hill for your unadulterated view of Northland's largest town and magnificent coasts on both sides.
