Where Ideas Take Shape

To Whom it May Concern

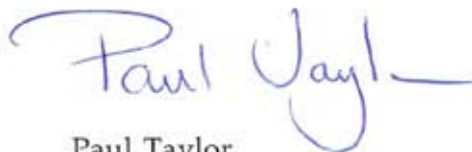

This is to confirm that Frances Chan was employed as a Staff Writer at Trends Publishing International from May 1994 to January 1996.

During this time, she worked on all aspects of our publications, including writing editorial features, writing advertorial features and editing the Singapore Home Design Trends series.

After she resigned from her full time position, we continued to employ Frances on a freelance basis and she has written large editorial and advertorial features such as the Sky Tower feature.

Frances' work at Trends includes page layouts in Pagemaker, and she has a good broad knowledge of computers and computer systems.

Frances has a good, clear writing style and she has worked well with our clients and with other members of the editorial and production team at Trends.
